March 19, 2023 meeting

Approved handbook editorial change:

18.21.0 Q&A - One of our coaches wants to hold a lock in for their team during the out-of-season period in August. They want to do team building activities during this time. Would this be legal?

NO, since team building is very much a part of coaching, team building exercises that are specific to the team are not allowed during the out-of-season time period, which includes the first weeks in August . Team building can only take place during the season.

HIRING NEW COACHES and RETURNING COACHES

In order to prevent your school from violating the out-of-season coaching rules, it is appropriate to ask a prospective coach or a returning coach if they have coached any of the students in your school district within the past year.
